Since 2010, data from the Delaware School Surveys shows that self-reported binge drinking* among Delaware 8th and 11th graders has declined by 50%.

In 2017, Kent County had the highest rate of traffic fatalities involving alcohol-impaired drivers.

Nearly one in ten 8th graders report drinking alcohol in the past 30 days. Delaware 11th graders report past month drinking at more than double this rate.

* Binge drinking defined as four or more drinks for women and five or more drinks at a time for men in the past two weeks,